

Exempting Radio and TV station telemarketing calls is just the opposite of what the public wants. To exempt them would let a foot in the door for other entities to do the same. Example, an organizer of a sporting event could claim the same exemption that a TV station has to promote watching the event. It is clear that any exemption is a bad idea.